Dear Mr. DiLeone:

Congratulations! In recognition of your commitment to developing career-related initiatives for students, your organization has been nominated by Carol Siegel & Self from Island Trees School-Business partnership, and accepted for inclusion in the Workforce Builder Honor Roll. Your organization's name will appear throughout the year on the honor roll as follows:

Cambridge/Brighton Budget Planning Corporation

The honor roll represents the 2nd annual program of the Long Island Works Coalition to highlight organizations that are committed to Long Island's emerging workforce. You are among the elite business leaders across Nassau and Suffolk counties who share your vision of working together to ensure that today's students will have the skills and opportunities for successful futures. This year's honorees will be inducted at a celebratory luncheon presented by Newsday/Island Publications on November 15, 2004 at the Melville Marriott Hotel. We are looking forward to another well attended event, as we hosted over 800 individuals at last year's luncheon.

The Long Island Works Coalition is a non-profit, regional initiative that fosters collaborations between schools and employers, preparing students with the knowledge, skills and practical experiences needed for career success on Long Island. Now in our fifth year, the LI Works Coalition also sponsors activities and programs that include School-Business Advisory Boards, Internship Fairs and parent conferences. Without the support of committed leaders like you, we could not carry out this critical mission.

You will soon receive an informational packet telling you more about this exciting event and the numerous ways in which we plan to recognize our Workforce Builders Honor Roll members throughout the year. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call Lisa Strahs-Lorenc or myself at the Long Island Works Coalition, (631) 297-3063. Thank you for your commitment to our students and our region.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Davidson
Executive Director
